Dr. Bullard's Inauguration Scheduled April 8

Plans for the inauguration of Dr. Todd H. Bullard as president of Potomac State College are being made for April 8 by the faculty committee shown above.

A. Atwater, publicity; Prof. Elizabeth P. Hanlin, luncheon and reception; Prof. Kenneth F. Haines, invitations; Prof. Helen C. Criner, general chairman; Dr. Nancy M. Miller, program; Prof. Leonard G. Withers, music; and Prof. Paul F. Iverson, registration.

Dramatic Groups Offer Production As Alumni Benefit

The Potomac State Players in conjunction with the members of Delta Psi Omega, campus dramatic honorary, presented a benefit performance on Thursday, February 4, for the Potomac State College Alumni Foundation, Inc.

A modern morality play, THE SUMMONS, written and directed by Prof. Orval Anderson, '39, chairman of the English department, was presented. The Executive Committee of the Alumni Association headed by Thomas J. Conlon, president, arranged for dessert to be served following the program.

Alumni officers were delighted with the response to the benefit, and announced that receipts will be placed in the Alumni Foundation.

Romney Kiwanis Give $100 Check

The Alumni Foundation was pleased to receive a check for $100.00 from the Romney Kiwanis Club last September. Club President Edward Bright '39 said the organization had raised money for several projects, one of which was our scholarship program.

Let Us Have Your News and Dues

Alumni, we need your NEWS and your DUES! We want to know what you are doing; don't be modest! Send us information about yourselves.

Also, we need your DUES to continue our publication. $2.50 per year single or $4.50 for husband-wife combinations will keep you fully informed on alumni activities as well as campus news.

New Offices Are Given To Alumni In Adm. Building

The alumni office and its director, Mrs. Robert T. Coffman '36, have moved into a new home this month. The office entrance is found at the back of the Administration Building, directly off the parking lot.

The former auditorium of the Administration Building was recently partitioned into two classrooms, and the back of the auditorium was converted into two office levels. The downstairs offices will serve as working spaces for Professors Anderson and Burke, who will use the classroom areas. Professor Anderson's classroom is currently known as the Downstairs Theater. All dramatic offerings of the college will be given there until the new auditorium is completed.

Many Expected For Ceremonies In College Gym

Academic Procession Part Of Program As Well As Luncheon for Guests

Dr. Todd Hupp Bullard will be officially installed as the third president of Potomac State College during inauguration ceremonies on Thursday, April 8. In doing so, however, he becomes the eighth head of the 62-year-old institution.

Invitations have been extended to members of the Board of Governors, state and city officials, a large number of learned and professional societies, and to many colleges of the area, among others, to attend the day's functions.

The college faculty will be joined by representatives of other colleges and of the learned societies in an academic procession which will move across the campus to the gymnasium for the inaugural ceremony at 2:30 p.m.

There will be a luncheon for invited guests at the college dining room preceding the ceremony. Immediately following the inauguration, there will be an informal reception for all persons attending.

Dr. Bullard was appointed president August 1, 1964, succeeding Dr. Ernest E. Church, who served as president since 1936 and resigned last summer to assume the position of executive secretary of the W. Va. Commission on Higher Education, Charleston.

This institution, established by Act of the State Legislature in 1901, opened in 1902 as the Keyser Preparatory Branch of West Virginia University. It became a state college in 1929 and moved to its present location in 1936. It is a four-year college with a enrollment of approximately 1,200 students.

College Seeks Federal Aid For Fine Arts Bldg.

State Commission On Education Approves Sum Of $533,332 For Structure

The West Virginia Commission on Higher Education has approved the request made by Potomac State College in the amount of $533,332 for construction of a multi-purpose building on the campus.

This recommendation has been made to the U.S. Office of Education under provisions of the Higher Education Facilities Act of 1963. The project is one of several projects at six state colleges seeking federal grants totaling $2,224,559, based on priorities established following a study of applications filed by the colleges.

The 1963 law provides matching funds for buildings for natural and physical sciences, mathematics, modern languages, engineering, and libraries. Four-year colleges may qualify for grants covering a maximum of one-third of the cost, two-year colleges and technical institutes for 40 per cent of the cost.

Dr. E. E. Church, former head of Potomac State College, is presently serving as executive secretary of the state commission.

If final approval is given for the funds by the U.S. Office of Health, Education, and Welfare, construction of the multi-purpose building could begin in the late spring or early summer.

Facilities are included to provide through this facility a first-class structure for instruction in the fine arts. It would include excellent dramatic facilities, appropriate rooms and performing areas in the realm of music, as well as for the creative arts. The building would also include space for general classroom facilities as well as an auditorium which could be converted to classroom use if necessary.

Tentative plans call for the building to be constructed near

Alumni Office Receives Gift From India

Mrs. Robert Coffman, Director of Alumni Affairs, is shown looking over a silver punch bowl and matching service presented to the Alumni Association by Sp. 5 John V. Golaboff who recently returned to the campus from a tour of duty in India, where he purchased the set.

Alumni Office Gets Bowl, Service; Science Dept. Presented Brain Coral

A silver punch bowl and matching service have been presented to the Potomac State Alumni Association by Sp. 5 John V. Golaboff, who recently returned from a tour of duty in India to resume duties with the Department of Military Science at the college.

The attractive addition to the alumni office was hand-decorated in India where Specialist Golaboff had the pleasure of visiting the Taj Mahal on several occasions, the Jim Corbett National Park, a game reserve; and where he attended the funeral of India's late Prime Minister Nehru.

He met the ambassador to India, and was invited to his home the corner of Arnold and B Streets. The auditorium would accommodate about 1,000 persons. One wing would be used by the departments of music, art, drama, and possibly speech. Later provisions could make a second wing available for use by the Keyser Area Appalachian Center. Robert J. Bennett, Morgantown architect, who designed the college's library and Friend Hall, has drawn plans for the proposed building.

for a special showing of the movie, "Lilies of the Field."

While in India he was stationed at New Delhi with the U. S. Supply Mission which supplies military aid and equipment to the government of India.

Going to India from San Francisco he stopped in Hawaii, Manila, Saigon, and Bangkok. On the return trip to the U. S., stops were made in Tehran, Lebanon, Istanbul, Belgrade, Frankfurt, London, and New York City.

Another presentation has also been made to the science department by Claude E. Glover, Perry Hill, Md., who was graduated from Potomac State in 1924.

The gift, a brain coral, is a near perfect specimen which has been on exhibition at the Maryland Academy of Science, Baltimore, for six years, and has been in the possession of Mr. Glover since 1928.

This coral is of a kind of massive, deeply-ridged and furrowed reef-building corals which resembles a brain cell. It was cut from the ocean floor shortly after World War I during a sunken ship salvage operation by a deep sea diver.

Annual Drive For Funds Now Underway Here

Office May Handle Bequests In Wills, Grants; Fund Totals $3,504

The Potomac State College Alumni Foundation, Inc., begins another campaign with the mailing of this NEWSLETTER. Alumni officials are hopeful that the 1965 drive will be even more successful than the 1964 collection.

Last year's drive yielded $1,159.40 from loyal alumni, campus groups, and area organizations. This brings the current total in the foundation to $3,504.87 in just three short years.

The foundation was able to award its first scholarship last fall as noted in the fall edition of the NEWSLETTER. More scholarships will be awarded as interest becomes available from the foundation trust fund.

Alumni are reminded that the foundation is equipped to handle bequests in wills, land grants, stocks, bonds, and other negotiable instruments.

Won't you join in aiding worthy students in the current campaign? Any amount, small or large, will help some young man or woman along the path of increasing college costs. And remember, for the future of these United States, "College is America's Best Friend!"

Rain Cancels Parade But Fails To Dampen Spirits; Special Project Planned

Homecoming 1964 can now be recorded along with other memories of the Potomac State College Alumni Association but it can also be scored as probably one of the most successful gatherings ever sponsored in spite of the chilling rain which halted some of the events.

Hundreds of former students returned to their Alma Mater for the full day of events which began with a coffee hour and registration in the Student Union with Mrs. Thelma (Donald) Klinestiver as hostess. After this informal get-together the alumni proceeded to Kelley Armory for the homecoming luncheon.

A brief program and business meeting followed with Thomas Conlon, president of the Alumni Association, presiding. Remarks were given by President Todd H. Bullard and former PSC President E. E. Church. Among the special guests were Charles Calhoun of Mozer, W. Va., recipient of the first scholarship given by the Alumni Foundation; Miss Pamela Kuhn, Fairfax, Va., who reigned as the homecoming queen; and her attendants: Miss Carol Mandigo, Endicott, N. Y., and Miss Jeanette Shepp, Keyser.

Groups represented were from the following classes: 1906, 1907, 1910, 1912 and 1913. A delegation from the Class of 1954 which was holding its 10th anniversary reunion was also introduced.

Alumni were entertained with piano selections by Mrs. Ethel Turner Cox (38), Charleston. Decorations were under supervision of Mrs. Dawn Siever Jeffries ('42). Flowers were arranged for the luncheon and post game reception by Mrs. J. Clark Bright, of Keyser.

Officers Chosen

At the business meeting a slate of officers submitted by the nominating committee was adopted for a three year term: Thomas J. Conlon, president; Joseph W. Kessel, vice president; Kenneth F. Haines, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Elizabeth P. Hanlin was named to one of the vacancies on the Board of Directors by virtue of having served as vice president for a number of years.

Also named to the board was the Director of Alumni Affairs, Mrs. Mary Evelyn Coffman. Already serving are Mrs. Jeffries and Miss Mary Calemine.

All positions for the Alumni Foundation were to be filled this year. Elected to these positions were the following: Joseph W. Kessel, president; Mrs. Dawn Jeffries, vice president; and Kenneth F. Haines, secretary-treasurer.

Jasper T. Morris, Norman E. Rodgers and Mrs. Elizabeth P. Hanlin were chosen to represent the faculty and administration of the college. Representing the alumni association, in addition

President Names Four Committees to Analyze, Evaluate College Curricula

Four faculty committees have been appointed by President Todd H. Bullard to begin a study of the college's curricula and certain non-academic functions of the institution. The study program is designed to analyze and evaluate the total educational environment of Potomac State College.

Three ten-member committees will conduct an individual study of the school's (1) transfer offerings (any courses applicable to a baccalaureate degree) (2) terminal offerings (the two-year associate in arts degree program) and (3) remedial offerings (developmental or corrective course work). The fourth committee on non-academic activities will study extra-curricular functions on the campus to determine the extent to which they add or detract from the broad education of the students.

The findings of these studies will lay the groundwork for the addition of new courses and the revision of some classwork. The studies will also facilitate planning for the expansion of the school's physical plant in the future. The master plan growing out of the studies probably will not be completed for about two years, and even then it will be subject to modification, Dr. Bullard said.

Freshman Quintet Is Designated As Laureate Scholars

Five members of this year's freshmen class at Potomac State College have been awarded the special academic distinction of Laureate Scholar, according to President Todd H. Bullard.

The students were given this new designation by virtue of outstanding grade record and character, selections being based on the recommendation of their former high school principal and/or guidance counselor.

The five chosen include: Gary N. Belue, engineering, Ravenswood; Rodney L. Hall, pre-medicine, Clarksburg; Edward L. Miller, engineering, Falling Waters; Susanne M. Skinto, home economics, Wheeling; and Pamela L. Surber, medical secretarial science, Charleston.

Special Weekend On Fine Arts To Include May Day

Alumni and friends are invited to visit the campus on Friday, April 30, and Saturday and Sunday, May 1-2 when the college will host a "Lively Arts" Weekend.

President Todd H. Bullard said the program is being broadly developed to the range of the fine arts and will, in a sense, replace the old May Day celebration.

Plans call for an art movie on Friday night, and on Saturday the college will entertain high school thespian troupes who will hear Mr. Fred Hutchins, National Director of Thespians, speak. Coronation of the May Queen will be followed by staged dramatic readings presented by visiting college drama groups.

On Sunday, concerts will be given by the College Singers, the Concert Band, and the Stage Band.

Throughout the weekend, Mr. Adrian Ciem, Cresaptown, Md., will exhibit his paintings in the library.

Faculty and students assisting with preparations are Prof. Orval Anderson, '39, chairman, Dr. Elizabeth A. Atwater, Prof. Jasper T. Morris, '47, Prof. Leonard G. Withers, Prof. and Mrs. David G. Nuzum, and Miss Mary F. Shipper. Rodger Parsons, president of the Student Legislature, and Miss Ada Bowyer will represent the student body.

New Offices

The alumni office is located on the upper level and opens directly on the parking lot. Two office areas, one for the business of the office, and the other for storage and working space, were allotted.

Professor David G. Nuzum, director of Student Affairs, will take over the former office space, and his secretary will occupy his former office.

To Reign As May Queen

Miss Suzanne Carter Shelton, a sophomore medical technology major at Potomac State College will reign as May Queen as a result of a recent campus-wide election. The daughter of Mrs. Molly Shelton '39 and John Shelton of Keyser, Miss Shelton resides at 17 Arnold Street. Her mother, the former Miss Molly Browning Long, was May Queen at Potomac State in 1939. Miss Shelton is secretary of Epsilon Gamma Sorority and a member of the Women's Athletic Association.

Virginia University with the name subsequently being changed to Potomac State School, Potomac State School of West Virginia University, and Potomac State College of West Virginia University.

Heading the first school was Lloyd L. Friend, who was succeeded in order by Thomas W. Haught, Lorain Fortney, J. D. Muldoon, J. C. Sanders (an interim appointee), Joseph W. Stayman, and Dr. Church.

President Bullard came to Potomac State in September of 1963 as academic dean and professor of political science, succeeding the late Dean Kirkland S. McKee. Prior to that time he was an assistant professor at WVU, serving as director of the Parkersburg Branch of the University.

A graduate of Triadelphia High School in his native city of Wheeling, he attended Bethany College for a year and continued at West Liberty College, where he received an A.B. degree in history and political science in 1953. After two years service with the U. S. Army, he enrolled at WVU for graduate study and was granted an MA in history, 1956. He received a PhD in political science at the University of Pittsburgh last August.

He was a graduate assistant at Pitt (1957-59); assistant professor, Bethany College (1959-60); and worked part-time at Ohio University's Martins Ferry Branch in 1960.

President and Mrs. Bullard greeted area residents at an informal reception held in the Student Union on October 18. They are the parents of four children, the latest, Janice Louise, being welcomed into the household on November 25.

CAUSE Drives In Parkersburg And Capital Success

Two CAUSE drives recently completed in Parkersburg and Charleston have been rated "a tremendous success," according to Mrs. Robert T. Coffman, director of alumni affairs. The Parkersburg program was conducted by Mrs. Barbara (Proudfoot) Shears '45 on October 27-28. The Charleston campaign, guided by co-chairmen John A. Canfield '60 and Charles Ryan '60, was held from November 16 to 18.

CAUSE (College Alumni United in Support of Education) consists of contacting all the former students of a college within a given area in order to give them an opportunity to contribute to their alumni fund.

Helpers in Charleston included Mrs. June (Smith) Canfield '61 and Mrs. Ethel (Tomer) Cox '38.

Circle K Club Named Dec. Club of Month

The Potomac State Circle K Club has been recognized as Club of the Month for December in The Bulletin of Circle K International, Circle K's monthly magazine. The honor of Club of the Month is based on the number and worthiness of service projects performed by competing clubs.

"Any way you look at it, the Circle K Club at Potomac State College, Keyser, W. Va., has been carving quite a niche for itself as one of the best and most service-minded groups on campus," the article said.

Activities deemed exceptional by the magazine were the fund-raising drive for the annual Cancer Crusade of the American Cancer Society, a citizenship forum program on the subject "The Woman in Today's World," the drive for blood donors for the annual visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile, and a forum on the 1964 Presidential Election.

Many Alumni Return To Campus For Annual Parents Day, Community Day

Many alumni were represented in the throngs of people who visited the Potomac State College campus on Saturday, October 31, when a full day of activities were planned as part of Parents' Day.

The event, held annually, gives all parents of students attending the college an opportunity to visit the campus and meet the staff and instructors. They are also allowed to inspect the facilities on campus and the remodeled Student Union Building was a big attraction.

Registration and coffee hour in the gymnasium was followed by a brief convocation during which President Todd H. Bullock welcomed the guests. Open House was held throughout the morning and at 1 p.m. the Circle K Club sponsored a parade featuring floats which had been constructed for homecoming but was postponed because of inclement weather. A football game between the Catamounts and Frostburg (Md.) State College followed with parents admitted as guests.

That evening at 8 o'clock Dr. Patrick W. Gainer, noted folklorist and professor of English at West Virginia University, presented a program on folk music.

On Sunday, November 1, the campus marked its second annual Community Day with open house from 2 to 4 p.m. and a lecture by Rabbi Max Selinger, DHL, spiritual leader of B'er Chayim Temple, Cumberland, Md., who discussed his overseas travels with emphasis on Israel.

Special displays were evident at various places on the campus and refreshments were served in the Science Hall assembly room.

Wife of WVU's President Dies

Mrs. Paul A. Miller, 45, wife of President Miller of West Virginia University, died Wednesday, Dec. 30, in University Hospital, Morgantown, after a two week confinement.

Death was attributed to acute kidney failure and a stroke, according to the medical bulletin issued by the hospital.

Catherine Spiker Miller was educated in West Virginia schools and attended Mountain State Business College, Parkersburg.

She married Dr. Miller on Dec. 9, 1939. At that time she was working for the Office of Price Administration.

Mrs. Miller is survived by her husband; a daughter, Paula Kay, a 19 year old sophomore at WVU; and a son, Thomas 9.

Homecoming

to the officers, the group selected Mrs. Ann V. (Hollen) Pamer and Mrs. Sally (Giffin) Wilson.

Members of the nominating committee were Raymond Stafford, Miss Myra M. Nefflen and Joseph Stanislawczyk, with the latter being named by the president to head a committee to consider the erection of some sort of statuary in the flower bed on the campus. Group singing of the alma mater closed the program.

Rain continued to pour and forced cancellation of the traditional parade, sponsored by Circle K, but the Student Legislature proceeded with the colorful half time ceremonies honoring Miss Catamount and her court. She was presented flowers by Theta Sigma Chi fraternity and was made an honorary colonel in the ROTC.

Perhaps the largest crowd to enjoy any of the homecoming activities attended the after-game reception in Friend Hall. Officers of the alumni association formed the receiving line. Mrs. John W. Stanhagen and Dr. Elizabeth A. Atwater presided at the punch bowl assisted by Mrs. Margaret Coleman of Hagerstown, Md.

The day's activities closed with the traditional homecoming ball, sponsored by the Student Legislature, in the gymnasium. Dancing took place from 9 p.m. until midnight.
